TRC's Community Service Learning Program (CSLP)

Deadline: 2/1/2016

The Teen Resource Center is now recruiting 8 diverse and unique high school students for its Community Service Learning Program (CSLP), a 6-month internship that aims to develop future leaders. Selected teens will serve the community through three components: interning at a community organization for 150 hours, contributing to TRC workshop discussions and trainings, and the planning and launching of a final group project centered around the theme, "Space and Time: Why We Move." The internship will run from February to August 2016. CSLP interns will gain valuable skills and experiences that serve as building blocks to a successful future leadership.

TRC's Dr. Thomas Tam 2016 Scholarship

Deadline: 2/22/2016

This scholarship was established in 2008 by the Dr. Thomas Tam Memorial Scholarship Foundation in memory of Dr. Thomas Tam, a co-founder of the Charles B. Wang Community Health Center. The purpose of this scholarship is to further the mission of the Teen Resource Center by providing financial support to eligible community youth. Successful scholarship applicants should demonstrate that they are committed to promoting healthy choices and to fulfilling the needs of their community. Scholarship recipients will receive a one-time scholarship of $500 for use at accredited universities or colleges within the US. The deadline to apply is February 22nd, 2016. Eligible applicants are high school seniors anticipating the completion of their high school diploma in 2016 and are planning to pursue a degree at an accredited US post-secondary institution.

New York Public Library's (NYPL) Public Eye: 175 Years of Sharing Photography

Date: Now-1/3/2016 @ Stephen A. Schwarzman Building

Thanks to the development of new technology and social media, more photographs are created, viewed, and shared today than ever before. Public Eye, the first-ever retrospective survey of photography organized by NYPL, takes advantage of this moment to reframe the way we look at photographs from the past. What are some of the platforms and networks through which photographs have been shared? In what ways have we, as photography's public and one of its subjects, been engaged over time? To what ends has the street served as a venue for photographic practice since its beginnings? And, of more recent concern, are we risking our privacy in pursuit of a more public photography? Free public tours of the exhibition at the Schwarzman Building (5th Ave at 42nd St, New York, NY, 10018) are available at 12:30 and 3:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday. ### CAAAV's Asian Youth in Action

Deadline: 1/4/2016

CAAAV is a pan-Asian community-based organization that works to build power of low-income Asian immigrants and refugees in New York City. CAAAV's Asian Youth in Action (AYA) is a 7-month internship program running from February 2016 to August 2016 for youth ages 14-21. This is an opportunity for Asian young people who speak Bangla, Korean, Mandarin, and/or Cantonese to serve low-income Asian immigrant communities. Interns will gain hands-on experience through working with the Chinatown Tenants Union or the NYCHA Organizing Project for 10 hours each month, and monthly leadership skills trainings. In addition, upon completion of the program, interns will receive a transportation stipend, community service hours, and letters of recommendation upon request.

Improv Everywhere No Pants Subway Ride 2016

Date: 1/10/2016 3-5pm

The No Pants Subway Ride is an annual event staged by Improv Everywhere every January in New York City. This year it will be on January 10th. The mission started as a small prank with seven guys and has grown into an international celebration of silliness, with dozens of cities around the world participating each year. The idea behind No Pants is simple: Random passengers board a subway car at separate stops in the middle of winter without pants. The participants behave as if they do not know each other, and they all wear winter coats, hats, scarves, and gloves. The only unusual thing is their lack of pants. Join their email list to stay updated on the details of the event.

Asian American Legal Defense and Education Fund (AALDEF) 2016 Summer Legal & Undergraduate Internship Opportunities

Deadline: 1/19/2016

The summer program is ten weeks, from June 6 through August 12, 2016. Interns work full-time and are supervised by attorneys in specific program areas. Depending on the program area, interns will work on litigation, legal and policy advocacy, community outreach and education, or client intakes; each program area differs in emphasis. Summer interns attend weekly brown bag lectures on a range of public interest legal topics along with interns from other legal defense funds and civil rights groups. The position is unpaid, but many AALDEF interns have been successful at securing independent funding in previous years. Academic credit can be arranged.

2016 National Fellowship Program for Asian American Organizing and Civic Engagement

Deadline: 2/12/2016

The National Fellowship Program for Asian American Organizing and Civic Engagement develops the leadership of a new generation of activists and organizers who are deeply invested in building the power of and improving the lives of working-class Asian immigrant communities. Running from June to August, the fellowship program provides 10 weeks of intensive training, ground work, and reflection. Beginning with a week-long training and orientation, fellows come together to orient themselves to the theory behind the community work as well as build community with each other. The bulk of the fellowship is on the ground work with host organizations. Placed at grassroots organizations across the country, fellows will develop an understanding of organizing work in a local context, develop and strengthen their organizing skills, and connect theory with practice.
